

THOUGHT PROCESS

We can take functioning businesses and help refresh your business model. This work can harness preference that are available to tribes as your JV partner. Over the next eight years there are $350B in opportunities which are ripe for JVs.

We can also take worthy new ideas and turn them into significant business opportunities through this work. Think of this as an advanced way to pursue R&D work or to expand your current business footprint.

While engaging in developing new JV models we will be serving Native people and others. This work is ultimately intended to uplift everyone we can serve.

Tribes are now open for business!

NATIVE AMERICAN

Joint Venture "Joining Forces"

BASIC IDEA

Since 2004 more than 5,000 joint ventures, and many more contractual alliances have been launched worldwide in the past sixteen years. The largest 100 JVs currently represent more than $350 billion in combined annual revenues.

It's clear to many companies that alliances—JVs and contractual alliances (where the partners collaborate without creating a new company)—can be ideal for managing risk in uncertain market times.

ADVANTAGE OF THE NATIVE MODEL

Three significant advantages reside within this model. With an American Indian Tribe, we can:

- 1.) Inject newfound entrepreneurial spirit into maturing businesses,
- 2.) Pursue R&D business activities with built-in governmental advantages, i.e., contracting preferences, and;
- 3.) Our JVs model will have lower taxing rates; ROI is stronger.

Please note, some of these techniques are proprietary to our business model, therefore, confidential. We would be glad to share some detailed information in a brief conference call. Touch here to send an email request.

COLLABORATION POTENTIAL

We currently have collaboration options in various locations. From California, Oklahoma, New York, Wisconsin, and Chicago metros and elsewhere.

It is worth noting, tribes are located all over the country in 35 individual states. Nationally there are currently 574 tribes in the USA. Each of these tribes have business development opportunities.
